A little bit about Ollie...

Meet our gorgeous boy Ollie, he came to the centre as his previous owner could not manage his needs. Ollie is a really lovely lad who has been badly let down in his short life. Ollie is a farm bred collie and so has lots of energy and is highly intelligent. Ollie is a remarkable dog who has so much to offer. He will need adopters who are looking for an active, intelligent dog who they want to do things with. Ollie wants to be out and about doing things that he was originally bred to do, he will need some guidance in getting used to the outside world as he has not had the socialisation he should have had as a young puppy. We are looking for adopters who live in a rural location, away from busy roads. He needs a home where he will have his own secure garden. Ollie really is the most fantastic dog, he is kind, loving and very friendly and just needs a family who will channel his natural instincts in to family life. He is so keen to please his people and is ever so affectionate, Ollie really will make the most amazing best friend to the family who are willing to put the time in to him. They will be rewarded with a loyal, companion who will always put a smile on your face. Ollie will need adopters who have had experience in owning a working type dog, he is not suitable for first time dog owners. Although Ollie is sociable with other dogs out and about, he would need to be the only pet in the home, he is suitable to live with teenage children.
