A little bit about Bob...

Bob came to the centre via our vets after he was found living life on the streets, sadly he had been injured during his tough time on the street and has lost half of his tail. Unfortunately we do not know how the injury happened but thankfully he is now healed and recovered and ready to find his forever home. Being a street cat and having to live life on his wits, Bob was really quite nervous when he first came to the centre. He was given the time and space to decompress and soon learned that people were not that bad after all. Bob now does not hide away from us and actively seeks us out for a fuss, he is now starting to enjoy everything he missed out when he was abandoned on the streets. Bob still gets easily spooked by loud and sudden noises so he will need a quiet home where he can settle and adjust to family life. Bob is super smart and learns quickly, we are sure in a home he will come out of his shell further and make a marvelous family pet. Bob will be best suited as the only pet in the home, he would be suitable to live with children aged 13 years and over. He will adopters who have a spare room they can give him until he has settled and gained in confidence.
