A little bit about Prince & Sammy...

Prince - Black Male Sammy - Grey & White Male These two gorgeous little boys came into our care after being abandoned outside our rescue's front door in the middle of the night. Thankfully, they're now safe, warm and being showered with the love and care they deserve in a foster home. Prince is our confident, friendly little chap who loves making friends, while Sammy is a little more nervous and needs some extra time and patience to build his confidence. Despite their different personalities, both boys are incredibly sweet! They love to play, enjoy their food (definitely little foodies!) and are always up to something mischievous. They love exploring their surroundings, getting into a little bit of trouble, and then eventually curling up for a well-earned snooze. The boys could be rehomed together or separately. If you are hoping to adopt them as a pair, they will need a quiet, understanding home with older children who can respect Sammy's shyness and give him the time and space he needs to settle in and find his confidence. Prince may be the more outgoing of the two, but with a little patience and kindness, Sammy will get there too. Once they've settled and learned to trust you, both boys will become your very best friends! Prince and Sammy have so much love and personality to give, and we can't wait to see them blossom. They deserve a future filled with kindness, security and lots of love. Let's make sure their rough start is just a tiny part of their story, not the rest of it.

My personality...

I may be able to live with another cat

I need to be kept indoors until I am neutered

I could live with children of secondary school age

I'm full of energy and love to play
