A little bit about Colin...

Colin came to the centre via one of our inspectors after being found in pretty poor condition as a street cat, his condition is slowly starting to improve and he is looking much better. Colin is a friendly chap who is enjoying the warmth and the constant supply of food, never having to worry where his next meal is coming from. Colin likes a fuss but is also quite an independent cat who likes to keep us on our toes, he is quite a character who makes us all smile. Colin will need an adult only home with adopters who will understand Colin is who he is and what you see is what you get. We have quickly grown rather fond of this cheeky chap and would love to see him finally have the loving, stable home he has never known. Colin is best suited to being the only cat in the home, he will also need a home where he will have safe access to the outside so a home away from any busy roads is a must.

My personality...

I'd prefer to be the only cat in a home

I need to be able to go outside and explore

I'd prefer an adult only household

I'm independent; I like to do my own thing!
